Project of Twardowski's moving from Lvov to Warsaw

SUMMARY

In the interwar period, Kazimierz Twardowski was proposed several times to move from Lvov to Warsaw. It was connected with taking by him either the chair (psychology, philosophy) in Warsaw University or high post in state administration.

Twardowski decided to stay in Lvov. This fact has to be rated as an important one to the Polish philosophy. Choosing one of above proposals could make difficult realizing, already undertaken by him, programme of building scientific philosophy in Poland. It could decide also changing direction of philosophy development in Warsaw centre of that time.
